

24th Issue Biannual Spring/Summer 2013 UK £6.95 US $14.99 CAN $16.99 Michelle Williams photographed by Willy Vanderperre

AnOther Magazine

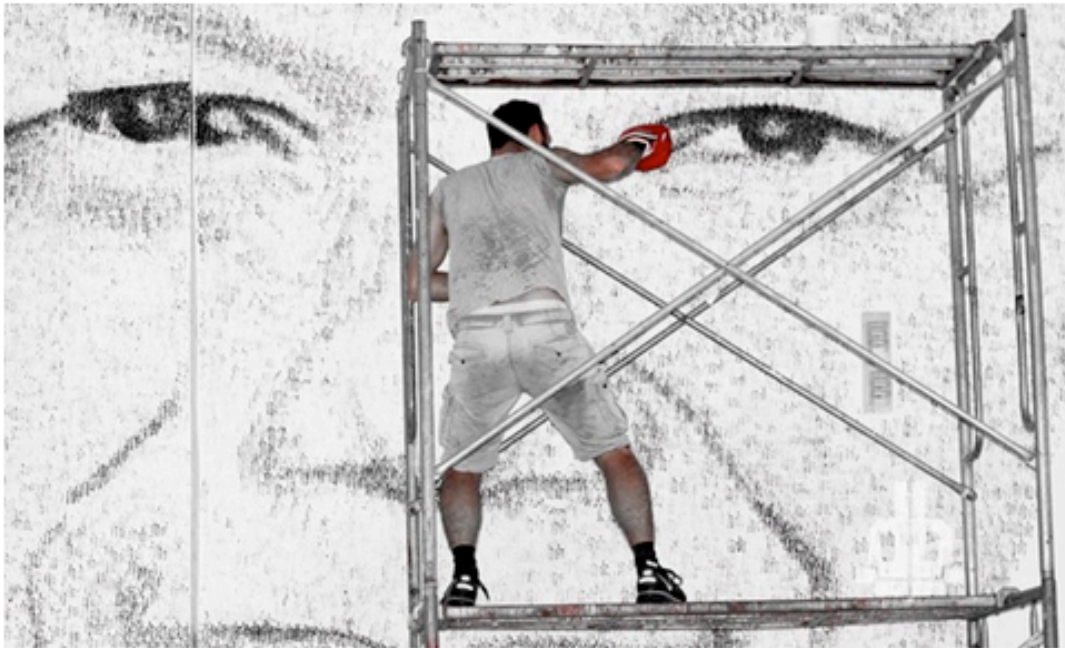

Michelle Williams
There's No Place Like Home

michellewilliams.org

Beautiful things we love and love to share

PHIL AKASHI'S NELSON MANDELA PORTRAIT COMPOSED OF 27,000 PUNCHES

10
loves

Monumental portrait made from 27,000 boxing punches with the chinese characters 自由 / 'freedom'. The shanghai-based artist chose to use cinnabar paste for its significance in taoist culture; red cinnabar was regarded as the color of life and eternity. he firmly decided to use black cinnabar paste to honor mandela's struggle against the apartheid. this symbolic and powerful painting resides in the shanghai graffiti park, and is surrounded by a mix of street art by local creatives.

Loved by Mandi Lennard and 9 others

Find this product at designboom.com

Tagged as Art